Move Launched To Form V. F. W. Post in Marion

State Organizer Here To Interview Veterans Whose War Service Makes Them Eligible to Membership

Marion war veterans will [illegible] at the Elks club at 7:30 Monday night to hear [illegible] of Columbus on the organization of a local [illegible] Veterans of Foreign Wars [illegible] Mr. Hanifin [illegible] izer for the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] objects of Association [illegible]

[illegible]

The V. F. W. was organized [illegible] O., Sept. [illegible] states who had [illegible] under the American flag [illegible] Philippine [illegible]. The group was chartered [illegible]. Several small [illegible] affiliated with the V. F. W. in the early years of the century. In 1917 at the time of America's entry [illegible] the World war, posts of Veterans of Foreign Wars could be found in every section of the country. Today the association [illegible] of posts in every state in the union, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, the Philippines, Europe and Cuba. The organization has taken a militant lead in all movements designed to aid the veteran and his dependents.

Maintains Home

The V. F. W. is non-partisan, non-sectarian and takes no part in labor disputes, Hanifin declared. It is the only veteran organization maintaining the national home for widows and orphans. All Marion veterans interested in the establishment of a V. F. W. post here are urged to meet at the Elks club on South State street Monday night.

'Vendol' Ended Marion Man Taking Soda After Meals

Was victim of acid indigestion, kidneys were weak and was in a general bilious condition. Says new medicine VENDOL gave marvelous relief

MR. EDGAR L. JONES

[illegible] started on Vendol [illegible] stomach was [illegible] from [illegible] Mr. [illegible] street Marion [illegible] Sams Pharmacy [illegible]

Nothing I ate seemed to digest properly but would turn sour and cause acid uprisings to come up into my throat. This condition brought on heartburn and made my breath sour. About the only thing that would relieve this was baking soda and I certainly took quantities of it. After a while it seemed that soda no longer helped the condition.

In addition to this I was troubled with weak kidneys which had me up several times during the night. There were pains in my back and my muscles and joints were sore and stiff so that it was an effort for me to get around.

I know my liver was sluggish because I was in a general bilious condition. I frequently suffered from dizzy spells with little spots floating before my eyes, my breath was bad and I always had a bad taste in my mouth. I was constipated too and all these things combined to make me very nervous.

So many people were praising Vendol that I decided to try this medicine and it certainly has proven satisfactory in my case. I can now eat many things that I could not before, yet I am no longer bothered with acid risings or heartburn and taking [illegible]. It is a thing of the past. My kidneys have been strengthened so that I am not called up at night any more and [illegible] of all uric acid [illegible] that the soreness and stiffness has left my muscles and joints and I can now get about as well as ever in my life.

The constipation has been relieved and I am regular every day and my liver has been thoroughly purged so that bilious condition has entirely disappeared and the dizzy spells, bad breath and bad taste in my mouth are also a thing of the past. It is really surprising how much more active I feel since Vendol worked off my sluggish liver and I am glad to give my public endorsement to such a fine medicine.

Don't delay taking Vendol. It will help you just as it has so many of the best people all over this section. Come to W. N. Sams Pharmacy, 121 S. Main Street and let the Vendol Man explain all about this splendid medicine. There is no charge so come today if possible.—Adv.

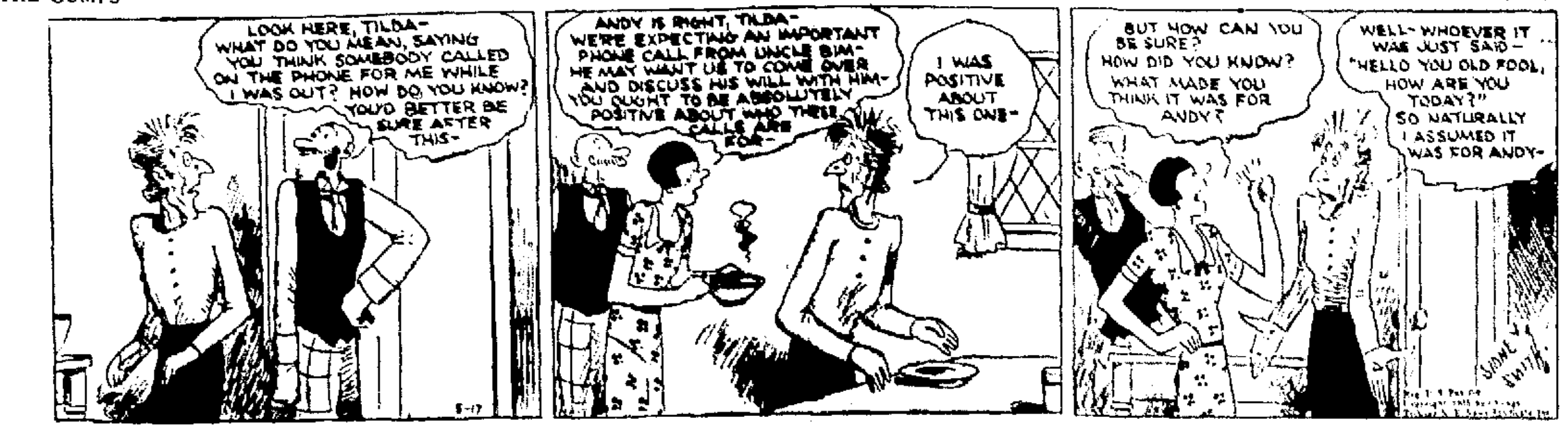
THE GUMPS

BY SIDNEY SMITH



LOOK HERE, TILDA— WHAT DO YOU MEAN, SAYING YOU THINK SOMEBODY CALLED ON THE PHONE FOR ME WHILE I WAS OUT? HOW DO YOU KNOW? YOU'D BETTER BE SURE AFTER THIS—
5-17
ANDY IS RIGHT, TILDA— WE'RE EXPECTING AN IMPORTANT PHONE CALL FROM UNCLE BIM— HE MAY WANT US TO COME OVER AND DISCUSS HIS WILL WITH HIM— YOU OUGHT TO BE ABSOLUTELY POSITIVE ABOUT WHO THESE CALLS ARE FOR—
I WAS POSITIVE ABOUT THIS ONE—
BUT HOW CAN YOU BE SURE? HOW DID YOU KNOW? WHAT MADE YOU THINK IT WAS FOR ANDY?
WELL—WHOEVER IT WAS JUST SAID— "HELLO YOU OLD FOOL, HOW ARE YOU TODAY?" SO NATURALLY I ASSUMED IT WAS FOR ANDY—

WHAT ARE YOU DOING BACK IN THE CITY, COLONEL HOOFER?
CASPER, WE HAD A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE AT OUR LITTLE FARM! IT WAS HAUNTED!
YOU'LL NEVER SEE ME ON THAT FARM AGAIN, TOOTS--- I ACTUALLY SAW A GHOST RUNNING ACROSS THE FIELD----
AND WE HEARD WEIRD NOISES UP IN THE ATTIC, CASPER--- IT SOUNDED LIKE THE RATTLING OF CHAINS!
DON'T TRY TO KID ME, COLONEL HOOFER!
YOU FRAMED THAT HAUNTED HOUSE GAG TO FORCE SOPHIE TO LEAVE THAT FARM BECAUSE YOU WANTED TO MOVE BACK TO TOWN!
GOOD HEAVENS, CASPER! HOW DID YOU KNOW THAT I FRAMED IT?

GEE, DIXIE, I FEEL GLAD ALL OVER-TOMORROW MR. MOARLAND AND ME IS GONNA VISIT PETE- AN'-- PETE ?
PETE IS THE NICE MAN WHO OWNS THE LUNCHROOM. WHEN MR MOARLAND AND ME WAS POOR- PETE TREATED US GRAND- PETE IS SWELL- AN' HE MAKES BEAUTIFUL HAMBURGERS
NO FOOLIN' DIXIE, DIDN'T YOU EVER EAT A HAMBURGER ?
NO, HONEY- I DON'T KNOW WHAT A HAMBURGER IS ?
IT'S A SANDWICH- YOU JUST TAKE SOME CHOPPED MEAT AN' MAKE IT LIKE A MUD PIE- THEN YOU FRY IT NICE AN' BROWN WITH ONIONS ON IT- THEN YOU EAT IT- HONEST IT'S SWELL- SPECIALLY IF YOU'RE HUNGRY

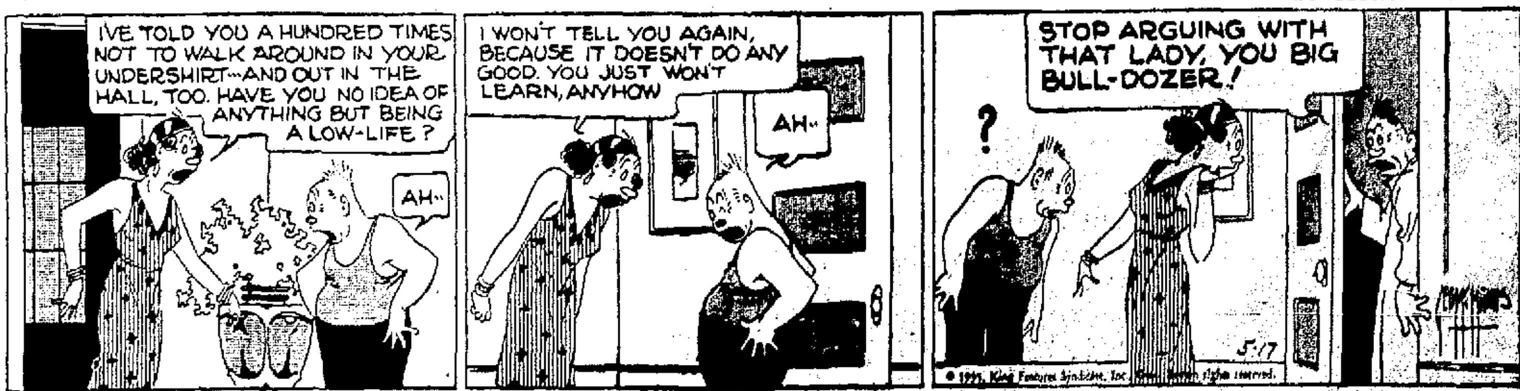
BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



I'VE TOLD YOU A HUNDRED TIMES NOT TO WALK AROUND IN YOUR UNDERSHIRT--AND OUT IN THE HALL, TOO. HAVE YOU NO IDEA OF ANYTHING BUT BEING A LOW-LIFE?
AH..
I WON'T TELL YOU AGAIN, BECAUSE IT DOESN'T DO ANY GOOD. YOU JUST WON'T LEARN, ANYHOW
AH..
STOP ARGUING WITH THAT LADY, YOU BIG BULL-DOZER!

WALL STREET TAMER TODAY

Inflation Sentiment Dull and Traders Taking Profit After Upturn

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK May 17—The roaring [illegible] market lion of yesterday [illegible] a lamb-like appearance [illegible]

The [illegible] did not seem [illegible] as bright as in the preceding session and many nimble [illegible] took profits and adjourned to the sidelines to await another [illegible] The result was [illegible] equities of a fast and rather firm [illegible] and the [illegible] Realizing seemed to be well absorbed however and few signs of real weakness was in evidence

Grains emulated stocks and cotton was barely steady Indefinite trends pervaded the bond list. Sterling continued to push forward in foreign exchange dealings while the gold currencies reflecting further nervousness over devaluation prospects declined

In the face of market uncertainties steel shares showed notable resistance [illegible] S Steel Inland Republic and Bethlehem were quite lively at advances of fractions to about a point Most of the others were unchanged or a trifle higher Silver mining issues were a bit lower but such coppers as Anaconda and Phelps Dodge improved American Telephone and Consolidated Gas stiffened

International Business Machines lost some three points and General Motors Chrysler Union Pacific Santa Fe N Y Central, Lorillard General Electric and U S Gypsum were in arrears

The strong stand taken by the White House to dispel rumors that the administration would not be too resentful if the Patman fiat money bonus bill were passed over a veto threw some cold water on the revived inflationary enthusiasm

With the measure being sent to the President today for his already announced disapproval final action by congress on Monday was expected A few financial observers believed the house might override the veto but that similar action in the senate was extremely improbable

Another slight setback for the inflation minded was the statement of England's chancellor of the exchequer Neville Chamberlain that the British government was watching the currency situation to determine when the time was ripe to seriously talk stabilization Although the chancellor's expressions were a little vague they indicated to some banking quarters here that a monetary agreement between the major powers may not be so far away as had been thought

COURT NEWS

Ruling Given

A complication of liens on two tracts in Scott township involved in the suit of Miss Orral Garber of Caledonia against Hollis Hipsher of Galion and others has been disposed of by an opinion given in the case by P H Wieland common pleas judge of Morrow county who recently heard the case here.

After studying the merits of the conflicting claims against the property Judge Wieland ordered the tracts sold and proceeds distributed among Miss Garber, Mrs Zelma Hipsher of near Caledonia who formerly was Hollis Hipsher's wife, Oran Hipsher of Caledonia and Hollis Hipsher.

Claims Settled

Edward C Shuster who has been named administrator of the estates of the late John Harvey Fox and his son Frederick F Fox both of southern Marion county has accepted settlement offers of the Big Four railroad and the New York Central railroad which operates the Big Four under terms of a lease for the automobile-train crash at Cardington last April 9 in which Fox and his son and two other persons were killed and other persons injured. Terms of the settlements are shown in probate court records.

Shuster as administrator received $400 in settlement of any claim Harvey Fox might have against the railroad and $300 under similar terms for the estate of Frederick F Fox. Milton R Fox 13 member of the same family who was injured in the crash settled for $150 and an unspecified amount was accepted by Mrs Ida Fox widow of Harvey Fox who also was injured in the accident. Paul Jones represented the Fox family as attorney.

When citizens who have left good positions to serve the government want to quit they usually give private business interests as an excuse. It's a good one. Not many men can afford to work for government pay.

Only 989 federal employes make more than $10,000 a year. The President's $75,000 salary is at the top of the group. More than 7000 employes make between $5,000 and $10,000. Many of the best known figures in the new deal are in this class, which includes all senators and representatives.

The fact that government pay for important positions is not high compared with the salaries commanded by executives and lawyers in non-governmental work is obscured, of course, by the enormity of total payrolls. In the fiscal year which ended last June 30, there were 1,162,629 names on the federal payroll, which drew $1,152,668,429 from the treasury. It has been estimated the payroll for the current year will draw $1,367,904,906 and contain 1,216,338 names.

The public has been alarmed various times in the last few years over disclosure of large salaries drawn by key executives in private industry. The Roosevelt administration has made a special point of fomenting resentment with such disclosures. Its efforts have been awarded with some success, yet little more than the mention of the high cost of public jobholding is required to start a backfire of alarm over a bureaucracy whose only movement is in the direction of expansion.

Depends On the Motive.

Mildred Didrickson, who frequently is called the greatest woman athlete of all time, admits openly she has ambitions of becoming a golf champion. She has been working on her golf game two years with that idea in mind. She won the Texas championship and is ready to conquer new worlds. But the United States Golf association says "No."

It was inevitable that sooner or later she would run into the simon pures, the conscientious [illegible] and gentlemen who work day and night to save amateur sports for amateurs. Miss Didrickson is no lady of leisure, who plays golf to pass the time between free meals. She is a professional athlete, a gal who lives by her muscles. But so far golf has been a sideline.

She is not, of course, a professional golfer, unless one happens to want to look at it that way. It happens that the guardians of amateurism usually do want to look at it that way. There being no place to draw the line between amateurs and professionals, they make a place far enough away from professionalism as to exclude usually even the stragglers of the play for pay group.

Obviously, a professional baseball player isn't necessarily a professional golfer, yet the U. S. G. A. wouldn't doubt that he was for an instant. Likewise, it is obvious that a golfer who travels all over the United States and attracts thousands of spectators isn't an amateur, but the U. S. G. A. insists he is if it has given him its approval. There's nothing that can be done about it except to register once more, puzzlement over the moral difference between athletes who are good enough to earn money they will take and athletes good enough to earn money they won't take, except in some roundabout way. In the meantime, amateur golfers, both men and women, might worry in their spare time over the fact the United States may be passing up a distinguished champion. Babe Didrickson, experts say, is potentially as good in golf as she actually was in jumping over hurdles and throwing javelins at the Olympic games.

Popularity Contest.

Postmaster General Farley has won the first round of the popularity contest between himself and Sen. Huey Long. The senate voted Tuesday 62 to 20 to reject the senator's resolution for an investigation of Mr. Farley.

The vote was strictly partisan. Sen. Long was the only Democrat who favored the resolution. Nineteen Republicans and one Progressive stood with him, until at the last minute he changed his vote for a technical reason in connection with reconsideration of the measure.

On his own merit, Postmaster General Farley would not win many voting contests in which partisanship did not favor him. [illegible] one of the least pleasant aspects of the Roosevelt administration, not because [illegible] a distinctive type but simply because [illegible] a great deal of that side of the new deal which is a constant reminder that political parties are primarily interested in jobs and [illegible]

Sen. Long's enmity for Mr. Farley can be traced to purely material differences. One [illegible] politician is fighting another [illegible] politician. The postmaster general won the decision in the senate because he represented the national [illegible] Democrats are not interested in investigating his conduct as postmaster general because the [illegible] to do so has been issued by a disgruntled politician. Even were the charges better founded than Sen. Long's [illegible] seem to be, they would not cause [illegible] to take action.

Sentenced To Death.

The senate's decision to limit recovery act extension to nine months is virtually a sentence of death. Unless the house of representatives can force the senate to agree on a longer extension the recovery act, symbol of the Roosevelt administration's program of control over business, will have ceased to be a factor before the end of the current year.

Industries which would continue to be affected legally by the revived recovery act the senate favors would not bother to revise their codes for so short a period. Thus, instead of being a means of marking time until a longer extension of the act could be accomplished the nine month continuance would be a direct blow at the code structures which are the act's principal product.

This possible effect may be averted by Democratic leaders in the house. They may possess enough power to make the senate change its mind. That is doubtful, in view of the senate's approach to the question of continuing the recovery act. Apparently, the western and southern Democrats who have been its hardest critics are in the driver's seat. They seem determined to be rid of the blue eagle and all the paraphernalia that went with it.

Their determination fails to cause much excitement, strangely enough when one remembers how important the recovery act has seemed during its existence as the principal instrument for restoring order in a restless country. Absence of excitement, however, is merely proof that the recovery act has fewer friends than it would need to have in order to be effective. In other words, the act has been dying slowly for many months. The question before congress is: Shall we attempt to revive it or let it go on dying? The senate's decision, though contrary to the administration's wish and to the expectations of a large portion of the citizenry, is destined to be the popular decision sooner or later.

It Just Happened.

Shame on the man who wouldn't be surprised to find out that more than 4,000 farmers from the prairies and cotton fields didn't just happen to come to Washington because one of them thought it would be a good idea. He is a creature of darkness.

The farmers were a happy lot, so happy they went dancing away from their plowed fields seeking the velvety White House green, which instinct told them would be a perfect place to kneel in gratitude for AAA and its disciples, also for the checks they had received via mail.

Being the beneficiaries of organization, they naturally turned to organization to make their pilgrimages successful. They arrived in Washington by special trains, thereby saving money on the excursion. If Washington was surprised and bewildered by the visit, there was no sign. Speeches were whipped into shape in no time at all. An annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce couldn't have been handled more smoothly, as far as officialdom was concerned.

There has been nothing like it, except the starlings. They, too, just happened to come to Washington spontaneously. But they wore out their welcome. The grateful farmers, being dependent on cash, were in no danger of staying too long. That, incidentally, is one of the strangest things about the whole invasion.

New deal sociologists knew that farmers would spend some of their AAA money in town, but they hadn't figured on it getting back in the starting place so soon. Washington has been enjoying a boom ever since the new deal started, and it didn't need farm money. Yet, it got a large share of it when the grateful agriculturalists made their pilgrimage. It was one of those things that defy reason. Farmers have been famous for the extent and depth of their vindictiveness. Now they have gained fame for the spontaneity and scope of their gratitude.

FAMOUS "X ROADS"

The village of Pettersville in Crawford county gained national note during and since the Civil war by being the celebrated X crossroads where the fictitious personage Petroleum V. Nasby first began to chronicle his experiences and to send communications to the Toledo Blade and other well-known newspapers. Many of the incidents and circumstances narrated by him, though given with partisan partiality, actually transpired, and all the principal characters such as Nasby, Bigler, Bascom, Pogram and others were taken from fanciful resemblances to individuals residing in the village at that time.

Baird Leonard is regarded by many as The Original Sophisticate. Her writings were first to have the Kit Morley edge that cuts floating silk. She blazed the trail for the superior cynical era that launched Dorothy Parker, Lois Long, Peter Arno, Robert Benchley and others. The only difference is that Miss Leonard generalized, while many of those who followed were cruelly specific. In the old Morning Telegraph, her Manhattan Monotypes etched the passing parade in strokes of acid. She pinned butterflies to the wall far more expertly than those who followed. And she did it without singling out personalities.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 17, 1925.

Alonzo Hunt, 69, of Fountain street was in the City hospital suffering from a fractured skull resulting from his having been struck by an automobile on the Hillman-Ford road three miles northwest of Marion. Police were making a search for the driver of the car, said to have been a woman.

George W. and Henry C. Jones, 65 year-old twins, held a reunion in Marion, their first meeting in 30 years.

Crystal Lake park, Marion's new amusement resort, was opened to the public. It was estimated that more than 6,000 persons visited the park during the day.

Calvary Evangelical church launched a campaign for $60,000 to pay off its indebtedness. Pledges on the first day amounted to $42,500.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Bendel of Chicago avenue were honor guests at a dinner given in the I. O. O. F. hall in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary.

The Marion Athletics baseball team, strengthened by the addition of Hipp, Crestline shortstop, defeated the Cleveland National semi-pro team, 11 to 5, at Lincoln park. Colegrove and King did the pitching for Marion.

Dr. G. G. Nustrel and Miss Ruby Kaub, both of Prospect, were united in marriage in Galion by Rev. Philip Auer, pastor of the Galion Lutheran church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, May 17, 1915.

An ovation described as the greatest ever given a president of the United States greeted President Wilson when he came ashore at New York City to review a naval parade. A throng estimated at a half a million persons took part in the demonstration.

A Berlin dispatch reported that President Wilson's note regarding the sinking of the Lusitania was being studied carefully by the German government. It was regarded as a friendly message and would be answered in a friendly manner, the dispatch stated.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Landon at their home five miles northeast of Marion.

Asa Queen and J. F. Neidhart entertained a company of friends at the home of Mr. Queen on Fountain street in honor of Rev. H. J. Herber, pastor of the First Reformed church, whose marriage to Miss Hattie Keefer of Dayton was to be an event of the next month.

Behind The News In Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 17—Those farmers who came here to applaud the AAA actually were farmers. At least most of them were. A private checkup indicates that possibly 200 of the 4,500 were county agents indirectly on the government pay roll. The rest were mostly well-to-do soil superintendents, southern planters and large wheat farmers.

Of course their march was in part a Pullman trek. Many slept in lower berths. Some stopped at one of the three swankiest hotels in Washington which is quite expensive. Also some decided to remain over a few days and see the sights, including the zone in Rock Creek Park and one in congress.

But, all in all, they managed to convince the capital that they were really sons of the soil. Most of the farmers seen around here lately are two or three times removed from the hoe—farm politicians and agitators, who, like many labor leaders, discovered early in life that it is easier to lead than to labor.

Encouragement

Stories have been going around that the farm demonstration was organized by the AAA to offset the bad publicity which the farm program has been receiving in spots. If you will investigate disinterestedly, you will find the facts are these: The AAA did not directly organize the move, but certain officials in the AAA unofficially encouraged it, and helped to make it a success. Officially, they arranged for the hall, but the farmers themselves took up a collection to pay for it. They lent clerical help from the AAA free. Also the programs appear to have been printed by the government but that is not entirely clear yet.

Some AAA officials were consulted by the leaders of the movement in advance. Most of these officials apparently wrote letters approving the idea, but at least one did not. He advised against it because he did not believe it would turn out as well as it did from an administration standpoint.

Organization

It has already been published that C. H. Day, a Texas corn-hog and cotton beneficiary, originated the idea, but the revealing details of how the movement was organized have not been set forth. It was built mainly upon the county and the township committee in each county and the township committees in most townships. These committees are made up of farmers for purposes of the AAA program. County agents usually are secretaries of the control committee. The AAA may quibble with you if you say the county agents are paid by the government, but it is fair to say part of their remuneration comes from the federal government.

Promotion

The AAA crowd is propagandizing its program more effectively now, regardless of the farm march. For instance a Kansas farmer came in to see Administrator Chester Davis a few weeks ago. He told Davis exactly what the program had accomplished for him personally. Davis was so interested that he suggested the farmer go around and tell other farmers about his experience. The farmer was put on the AAA pay roll for that purpose and is now out making speeches.

Fight

The next issue of Labor, a forceful newspaper issued by the railroad brotherhoods, will contain a charge that Supreme Court Justice Roberts was on the J. P. Morgan preferred list.

The brotherhood boys have dug up evidence from a record of the senate banking committee indicating that Mr. Roberts was on a Morgan list for 100 shares of Alleghany Corp. common stock. This was long before Mr. Roberts became a supreme court justice and while he was an attorney in Philadelphia.

The reason the brotherhoods are reviving the matter is because Mr. Roberts led the majority of the court in the recent opinion invalidating their pension law.

Retrenchment

Without saying anything about it, the New Deal seems to have scrapped the idea of spending relief money for the manufacture of goods. President Roosevelt himself is supposed to have ordered discontinuance of the practice.

Under the old relief setup, money was spent to make mattresses in Ohio, shoes in some other sections, etc. Some manufacturers complained bitterly about the competition.

A new project recently was put forth by Congressman Connery of Massachusetts to spend $25,000,000 of relief money for making shoes. He was turned down on the ground that the government is not doing that sort of thing any more.

Popularity

The secret of the popularity of the farm program with many farmers may be found in some of the AAA statistics. There are 3,000,000 farmers subscribing to AAA expects to pay about $100,-cotton farmers amounted to $24,115,079 to the end of March. The AAA expects to pya about $100,000,000 to a million cotton farmers this year, as compared with $116,000,000 paid to them last year.

By JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, May 17—Well-posted New Yorkers figure the veterans might as well start planning to spend their bonus. They look for it to be pushed through in a form which President Roosevelt will accept soon after he has squelched the Patman paper money proposal with a resounding veto.

The statements by Jesse Jones and Marriner Eccles to the effect that immediate payment wouldn't do any harm are rated the tip-off. Reports that Jones' "faux pas" was annoying to the White House are taken with plenty of salt. Apparently unauthorized remarks by administration agents have been used as trial kites before now. The point is made that Jones is not given to careless conversation. There would be no sense to his crossing up the President at this stage of the game and on such an issue. Eccles would be even more unlikely to risk a misunderstanding with his chief while the banking bill—and his future career—are at stake.

Of course financial sources have been bearing down behind the scenes to beat the bonus. They don't tell it with telegrams—but they have their methods. However, Mr. Roosevelt is expected to pass over their protests in view of overwhelming popular sentiment for immediate payment. Insiders say the President is responsive to probable figures but feels the will of the American people as expressed by congress should get the call over banking objections based on unprovable fear of what "might" happen.

Credit

There are several ways the bonus could be dished up in cash besides those already mentioned in congress. But the belief that there would be two billion dollars more currency in steady circulation is a fallacy. The recipients would either deposit the money in banks or spend it—mostly the latter. In this case it would also come back to the banks very shortly. There would be no fresh demand for currency which would call on them to pay it out again. So the net result instead of an increase in the circulating medium would simply be an addition to the mountain of excess bank reserves.

Other factors are already operating to pile up these reserves still more. The quiet but steady flow of gold imports and large treasury disbursements have this effect. The base for the biggest credit expansion in history continues to spread.

Financial conservatives are really more bothered by the possibility of unchecked credit inflation than they are by the paper money talk. There are brakes designed to keep it under control such as lifting the reserve requirements of member banks or having the federal reserve banks sell their government securities. But they've never been tested on a machine of such huge potential horsepower and there are some who doubt their holding power when it gets rolling in high.

Wisp

Fang goes another pet illusion of [illegible] dealers.

A few months back New York was crabbing about the artificiality of low money rates. Critics insisted the treasury was playing the market to keep bond prices up and the cost of federal financing down. You don't hear that squawk any more.

Experts are now convinced that cheap money is due to a plethora of funds clamoring for investment and that Mr. Morgenthau has little or nothing to do with it. It used to be charged that the treasury's stabilization fund was being used to buy—and strengthen—federal securities. Bankers lately admit there's no evidence that this fund ever bought a bond. The federal reserve banks actually own less long-term governments than they did a year ago. Official support for federal issues has been confined to small purchases by minor government agencies—a wisp in the haystack of general market demand.

Satisfied

In the midst of the agitation to abolish codes there's one business, which intends to hang onto its new deal rule book come hell or high water. Investment bankers contracted plenty of headaches framing their code, but now that they've tried it they wouldn't part with it for anything.

Furthermore they don't much care whether the administering is done by NRA or the securities commission or the Marx Brothers. All that matters to them is that a gentleman's game has been substituted for old-time cutthroat. It's so much easier on the nerves—and overhead—when you know you're protected against back-stage knifing.

This attitude will be confirmed at the current convention of the Investment Bankers' association. About 90 per cent of investment business is handled by I. B. A. members—so what they say carries weight.

Smaller

Retail trade in New York City is running below a year ago and local merchants are in something of a lather—especially as stores in other cities are making better showings. Everything is blamed from the weather to the city sales tax.

Keen observers remark that the storekeepers do not realize how much local spending power has shrunk with the decline in industrial activity. Manufacturing payrolls in New York City are 73 per cent below their 1929 peak. Moreover they are still dwindling and there appears to be no chance for a substantial comeback.

It's predicted that New York retailers will have to readjust themselves to a volume of business permanently much smaller than what they have considered normal. The readjustment is likely to involve casualties.

Sidelights

Five hundred million dollars of corporate refunding issues have been offered in the last 10 weeks. There will be $500,000,000 more by July 1 . . . New York banks are telling their Chinese correspondents that the treasury's silver buying will be confined to domestic producers for the present . . . Sales of air-conditioning apparatus are lively—especially among hotels and movie houses.

ST. CLAIR.

Gen. Arthur St. Clair, first territorial governor of Ohio, married the daughter of James Bayard of Massachusetts, early representative of a noted family in this country. Phoebe Bayard was a niece of Gov. James Bowdoin of Massachusetts whose prompt and vigorous handling of Shay's rebellion cost him reelection to the office and whose name is borne by a notable college in the east.

By his marriage, St. Clair was connected with the best families of New England and at that time he was so well established in life that he was able to bring his bride to a stately mansion on an estate at Ligonier, in what now is Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania.

ROOSEVELT'S STAND ON LABOR BILL ASKED

tions bill has not as yet any place on the house steering committee's program

The party split in voting on the bill was for Democrats 61 Republicans 12 Progressives one Farmer Labor one Against Democrats 4 Republicans 8

William Green president of the American Federation of Labor said the senate's passage of the Wagner bill would cause general rejoicing among working people throughout the entire country

Labeled Constructive

"It is a constructive measure said Green which will make collective bargaining real vital and operative

"Under its provisions working people may organize free from intimidation or coercion on the part of employers may be represented by those of their own choosing in collective bargaining and by a majority vote select their own bargaining agency

"The decisive vote cast in favor of this measure by the United States senate insures its passage by the house of representatives

"It is a great achievement for labor We will now concentrate our efforts toward bringing about the adoption of the measure by the house of representatives and its approval by the President

The Wagner bill is predicated upon labor's insistance that the collective bargaining promise of section 7 A of NRA stands largely unfulfilled It takes the issue of collective bargaining away from NRA and sets up a new Labor Relations Board—a sort of special "supreme court for labor"—to pass on these issues

To Back Bargaining

Its purpose is to give definite legal status to the procedure of collective bargaining and set up machinery to facilitate it in a manner which employers have opposed as calculated altogether to serve the interests of labor unions while tying the hands of employers

The board would be made up of three members at $10 000 a year each appointed by the President subject to senate confirmation

The board is empowered to prevent "unfair labor practices" by employers as defined by the bill to investigate questions regarding representation of employes to hold elections of the employes by secret ballot or employ other methods of determining representation to determine the unit for purposes of collective bargaining—whether the employer unit craft unit plant unit or other unit

Right To Organize

The measure provides a fine of $5 000 or imprisonment for not more than one year or both for resistance to or interference with any members of the board or its agents in performance of its duties

The bill guarantees the right of employes to self organization and collective bargaining through representatives of their own choosing much as under Section 7 A The measure then provides that it shall be a violation

To interfere with restrain or coerce employes in the exercise of their collective bargaining rights

To have a company dominated union

To discriminate in hiring or keeping a worker or to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization The bill however specifies that nothing in the measure or in NRA or other law or code shall prevent closed shop agreements

The measure provides for majority selection of representatives for collective bargaining but specifies that an individual or group shall have the right to present grievances to an employer

There was little opposition to the bill expressed to day Sen Millard E Tydings (D) Maryland was defeated in a vote for an amendment to the measure to forbid [illegible] labor group from coercing another and Sen Daniel O Hastings R Delaware attacked the bill on the grounds that it was unconstitutional because the rights of worker minorities would be wiped out

Labeled Vote Bait

Fred Maurer (R) of Summit raised objection to the provision of the bill which provides for the distribution of $2 000 000 to Ohio colleges in addition to the $3 000 000 appropriation for parochial schools

The only purpose in putting that section into the bill was to put out bait for some votes he said and I'm convinced it was put in there through the influence of the governor of Ohio who promised both sides he'd be with them

Grover Traxler Democrat of Wyandot said if the bill reached the floor of the house he would offer an amendment that the money appropriated for parochial schools go to public school boards of education to be retained by them if they had the facilities to provide education for pupils now attending parochial schools and if they did not have the facilities the money would then be turned over to the parochial schools

In Five Minute Recess

Scheduled to recess before midnight yesterday the house covered the clock about 10 30 p m and a short time later went into a five minute recess until today

Both houses previously had adopted a resolution to recess on May 18 and adjourn sine die on May 23

The house moved at a snail's pace compared to the dizzy show put on by the senate which adopted 81 measures during a 24 hour period Next week the senate finance committee is expected to take up the budget problem upon which rests state operations for the next two years

Approval of the Carey law to regulate the milk marketing industry in the state at the expiration of the present Burk law was the major accomplishment in the house last night

Sees Need for Regulation

Once defeated the measure was reconsidered on the motion of Rep Robert Kaser Democrat of Shelby who said he felt the industry needed some type of regulation It vests with a four man commission price fixing and fee assessment powers

Milk Bill Provisions

The Carey milk control measure was designed to tighten up marketing regulations that have led to widespread criticism of the Burk Act

Under the Carey bill a commission is empowered to fix prices and license dealers and producers throughout the state The commission would be composed of two producers one dealer and a fourth member in no way directly interested in the industry

First defeat of the Carey bill sponsored by John Q Carey Democrat of Lucas county followed clamorous assaults on the bill by rural interests

After that the house recessed but not before the Republicans who have united against Gov Davey's ripper bill threatened action which would have left the entire legislative program "up in the air"

Opposed on a resolution to employ a Republican house porter during adjournment the majority group started a move for immediate adjournment which if carried out would have killed all pending business The Democrats then acceded to the Republican demands

Oppose Reorganization

Opposition to the governor's reorganization bill which would grant him sweeping powers even in the offices of Republican elected office holders was voted in a caucus

Gov Davey also was under fire in the hearing on the parochial denominational school measure

Greyhound racing was given another blow when the house defeated 64 to 19 a move to legalize parimutuel betting at the tracks The bill was up on reconsideration after having been defeated Wednesday

Rep Ed S Rose Republican of Summit failed in efforts to gain reconsideration of his measure to license bookmaking which he contends would provide political subdivisions with much needed revenue

Amended to limit its life to April 1 1936 or earlier if the NRA expire the Ohio recovery act was approved by the house and sent back to the senate for concurrence in the amendment Senate adoption had been with the provision that the act would expire with termination of the NRA

To Investigate Barbers

Activities of the state boards of cosmetology and barbers examiners will be investigated under a resolution of Sen Phillip Wolfe Republican of Richland which the senate adopted

In the resolution Wolfe said that although the boards were created on a part time basis they had spent more than $70 000 and board members were virtually working full time

Purchase of the Sandusky bay toll bridge through a state commission which would operate it free after debts are paid off also was authorized in the senate

RICHBERG EXIT FROM NRA BELIEVED NEAR

left his emergency council position to devote all his time to NRA

Bitterness against Richberg among American Federation of Labor leaders broke into fury at the time the automobile code was renewed They charged it was renewed without a hearing for labor John L Lewis president of the United Mine Workers said he stabbed a knife into labor's heart Richberg replied he acted for the best interests of the country as a whole

Some senators predicted today that if the house passes the seven point NRA program approved by President Roosevelt and Donald R Richberg yesterday no blue eagle law will be on the books when the present one expires June 16

They said house acceptance of the plan would lead to a prolonged tug of war with the senate which already had voted to trim NRA's sails and extend its life only 10 months

Democrats Apprehensive

Even the Democratic leaders in the senate displayed some apprehension about the possibility of completing new legislation by June 16

The program agreed upon at the White House called for a two-year extension of NRA and continuation of its jurisdiction over businesses substantially affecting interstate commerce as well as those actually engaged in interstate commerce

The senate approved measure would make codes apply only to firms doing business across state lines

Some Democratic members of the house ways and means committee who conferred with Richberg at length yesterday after he made public the seven point proposal said its provision for including all businesses affecting interstate commerce was too broad

As a substitute Rep Vinson Democrat of Kentucky suggested an arbitrary rule under which no business employing less than a certain number of persons—possibly 25 or 50—would be placed under a code submit an application to construct a number of sanitary sewers which are badly needed Marion also has a very serious grade crossing hazard and I have asked for an allotment of PWA funds to eliminate this condition This project alone would employ the greater part of our present unemployed at really necessary work Therefore it seems to me that it would be much better for the federal government to loan the city of Marion money which will be returned with interest and which will be used to give employment on really worthwhile work than to continue spending such a sum as was spent in 1934 and that probably will be spent in 1935 with no return whatsoever

I believe that you will agree with this thought and consequently I am appealing to you to assist us in providing work for our unemployed on the basis I have mentioned rather than spend such huge sums for relief alone

Sewer Project Filed

The sewer project to which the mayor refers was filed with PWA officials in Columbus a few days after the letter was written

The letter received by Mayor [illegible] from President Roosevelt's secretary reads as follows

Your letter of May 4 with the enclosed copy of communication has been received By the President's direction it is being referred for the consideration of Hon Frank [illegible] Walker who has been designated as head of the new division of applications and information of the national emergency council

PAIR LEAVE TRAIL FROM THEFT SCENE

Deputy Follows Tracks Across Fields To Arrest Two Caledonia Youths

Two young men residing near Caledonia were arrested yesterday after a sheriff's deputy had tracked them more than a quarter of a mile across the rain softened fields toward the home of one

They were to be arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of stealing automobile parts

Those arrested are Joe Dickerson 22 of two miles northwest of Caledonia and Ernest Osborn 20 of one mile north of Caledonia They are charged by C W Dutton of north of Caledonia with theft of a generator water pump and other parts from his automobile May 3

Deputy Sheriff Gene Geissler who arrested Osborn at his home and Dickerson in Galion about 7 p m yesterday said he discovered foot prints near the stripped automobile on Dutton's farm and followed the prints across two large fields to a road The direction of the prints he said led him to play a hunch that Dickerson might have been involved in the theft

Deputy Geissler this morning said confessions were obtained last night from the suspects He said their theft of parts from Dutton's automobile May 3 was their second visit to Dutton's farm to take parts He said they are connected with theft of four tires and rims from a shed on Dutton's farm a year ago

Prosecuting Attorney Paul D Michel in drawing charges against the pair said this morning the penalty for conviction would be a jail or workhouse sentence of three to six months or a fine of $100 to $500

FOUR CANADIANS DIE AS CONVENT BURNS

Three Firemen Perish While Fighting Fire, Heart Attack Kills Sister.

By The Associated Press

JOLIETTE Que May 17 Three firemen lost their lives today as they fought flames that destroyed the convent of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame here

An aged nun sister Ste Elaine Desseurs 75 died of heart ailment shortly after the fire broke out in the kitchen of the convent

All other occupants 33 children 50 aged pensioners and 50 nuns escaped Firemen led them to safety

The dead Sister Ste Elaine 75 Fireman Louis Chartier 32 Fireman Gulbert Fleury 50 Oscar Furlong 23 volunteer fireman

Fireman Jean Lecuyer 42 was seriously injured He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition

The convent and normal school built in 1875 still blazed fiercely as noon approached Joliette and Montreal firemen played water on the flames

Breaking out in the kitchen of the institution the fire spread rapidly through the building and the four upper stories quickly caught fire

Nuns started to lead the children and pensioners to safety A host of volunteers joined firemen in the rescue work and all occupants were carried from the building Almost every man in this town of 11 000 turned out to help fight the fire

The shock proved too much for Sister Ste Elaine who was about to celebrate the golden jubilee of her entry into the sisterhood She collapsed and died while the fire was at its height

Chartier Fleury and Furlong were cut off by the flames during the losing battle and perished LeCuyer was dragged unconscious from the building by his comrades

FIRST LADY TO VISIT COAL MINE IN OHIO

Not Concerned Over Superstition Regarding Woman's Entry Into Shaft.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 17—Mrs Roosevelt who intends to go down into a coal mine on her visit to Ohio next Tuesday doesn't think her visit will bring a curse down on the mine

Mrs Roosevelt intends to spend next Tuesday at the People's university in Bellaire O She mentioned the fact at her press conference yesterday and said she intended to visit a coal mine while there

A reporter from Birmingham Ala, told her of a superstition in her state that if a woman goes into a coal mine some catastrophe will result in the mine The reporter said Alabama coal miners would drop their picks and get out of the mine if a woman appeared

Another reporter said the same superstition prevailed in some sections of West Virginia.

Mrs Roosevelt wasn't a great deal impressed and said the mine she intended to visit wasn't operating at present anyway She thought the idea might go back to the day when women were working in mines and catastrophies were frequent but said she felt sure its influence was not widespread

She will leave for Bellaire shortly after midnight next Monday and will return the following midnight.

RIGID FEDERAL CREDIT CONTROL SUGGESTED

Morgenthau Advocates Board Patterned After Supreme Court.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 17—Rigid federal control of credit and currency through a strong board patterned along the lines of the supreme court was advocated today by Secretary Morgenthau

In addition he told the senate banking subcommittee that he belonged to that school of thought which believes the government should own all of the stock of the federal reserve bank

Repeated questions were asked as to the secretary's views on money and inflation by members of the senate subcommittee holding hearings on the omnibus banking bill but Morgenthau either replied that he was not a very good money theorist or that the questions dealt with pending legislation

The President put me in as an administrator not as a money theorist he said at one point

Appearing at the request of Sen Glass Democrat of Virginia chairman of the subcommittee the secretary declared he favored the principles of the part of the omnibus banking bill giving the federal reserve board executive authority to conduct open market operations by which credit is controlled

But he went even farther by adding that he wanted a board divorced entirely from political control

I would like to see that authority concentrated in an independent agency the secretary told the committee independent of the President too" Sen Bulkley Democrat of Ohio asked

Only that he have the appointive power Morgenthau replied

WILL START WORK ON NEW STATION SOON

Hickok Oil Corp. of Toledo To Open Fourth Place in Six Months.

Construction of a gasoline service station for the Hickok Oil Corp. of Toledo at the northwest corner of North Main and Farming streets will be started Monday, it was announced today by John L. Case, a local representative of the company. Plans were approved by the city planning commission Wednesday night.

The Main and Farming street station will be the fourth constructed here for the company in six months.

Construction is under the supervision of the contracting firm of Baker & Shindler of Defiance. Local workers will be used. The station will be completed in about four weeks and will cost approximately $5,000, Mr. Case said.

It will be similar in appearance to the company's station on East Church street at High street, which is of white glazed tile.

The Hickok company recently opened a new station at the northeast corner of South Prospect and West Columbia streets.

The Mexican government has made agreements with 27 states providing for joint action to increase agricultural production, regulate distribution and raise the living standard of the rural population.

JUNE BRIDES DO AS ANCIENTS DID

When June brides trip to the altar this year it will be another little milestone in the survival of scores of ancient customs. The throwing of rice and old shoes, the wedding breakfast, the custom of having ushers and a best man, even the business of having a canopy and carpet at the church—all are survivals of customs from many lands.

BY MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK. With June, "the month of brides," around the corner, the question arises, where did all the bridal customs begin?

Why can't the bride wear lemon blossoms? Why not throw an old stocking after a newly married pair instead of an old shoe? Why not have wedding pie instead of cake?

Most of our bridal traditions came from other countries and had their origin centuries ago; and although they're a hodge-podge, most of them have definite meaning.

Throwing of rice, for example, expresses a wish that the newly married pair will have children. The first nuptial rice-throwers were Persians; but other ancient countries threw cereals on their brides for the same reason.

A Nice Variant

A pleasant variation of the rice-throwing custom, once practiced in some countries, was to empty a plate of shortbread on the bride.

Wedding breakfasts began with the savages. It was part of their marriage rite for the bride and bridegroom to eat together.

The bridegroom's best man and ushers are survivals of primitive man's "marriage by capture," when he strode to his bride's tent and dragged her by the hair to his own dwelling—with the aid of a few masculine friends.

The use of a canopy and a red carpet at the church, and the strewing of the bride's path with flowers go back to an ancient superstition that dangers beset the bride, and that she must be protected overhead and underfoot.

Walked On Iron

It was felt that the bride would be unlucky if her foot touched the ground. Hence the custom for the husband to carry his bride over the threshold of their new home.

Instead of strewing the bride's path with flowers, some countries strew it with emblems of the bridegroom's calling. A carpenter's bride walks on shavings, a butcher's bride on sheepskin, and a blacksmith's bride on scraps of old iron.

Old shoes are a good luck token traceable to an old Jewish law which made the shoe the symbol of exchange, and the orange blossom custom goes back to the early Saracens.

Like the orange flowers represent fruitfulness in marriage. The Saracens so regarded them because the trees bear flowers and fruit at the same time.

Ancient Romans baked the first wedding cakes but they were [illegible] being made only of salt, water, and flour.

ARREST SUSPECT IN THEFT AT PROSPECT

A former employe of Harry Beaver of Prospect was taken into custody at his home in Marion yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff W. H. W[illegible] as a suspect in the theft of $15 from the Beaver residence May 8.

The man had been sought as a suspect since Beaver reported the theft to police, saying he looked out an upstairs window and saw a man walking away from the house about the time the theft occurred. He said he thought the man resembled a former employe.

Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel said charges against the suspect probably will be filed Saturday.

Controlled by a long rod of non-expanding metal enclosing a smaller one that is expanded or contracted by temperature changes, a non-electric [illegible] device for [illegible] has been invented.

Gossipers Couldn't Fool Mrs. Pierce

SHE LOST 50 POUNDS OF FAT

Feel full of pep and possess the slender form you crave for. You can't if you listen to gossipers who'd secretly hate to see you take off ugly fat. But notice that Mrs. Pierce had a mind of her own.

Here's a treatment tested and proved SAFE for years not only to take off excess fat but also a health corrector. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water every morning (taste fine with juice of half lemon added).

Mrs. L. W. Pierce of Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "I've taken off 50 lbs. with Kruschen in 6 months. I was 236 and intend to continue till I'm 150." If one jar (lasts 4 weeks and costs but trifle) doesn't take 12 lbs. off you—money back.—Adv.

IF YOU ARE RUPTURED

And poorly fitted with a truss, you have before you a life of misery, increasing misery, and disqualification for life's labors. You lift or stoop, and your truss slips, your rupture gives you great distress, and it enlarges. If you are fitted with the best truss in the world for just such a rupture as yours such mishaps cannot occur. The truss will not slip, and remember, a properly held rupture seldom fails to improve.

It Is Our Business to Fit You With the Best and Teach You to Put It On.

"HOLY SMOKES, MA! THEY STAY CRISP!"

The new wheat cereal that you've sampled . . .

BLENDED FOR CRISPNESS

RECENTLY, you received a free sample of the new Kellogg's Wheat Krispies. As soon as you taste this new cereal, you know why the Kellogg Company selected samples to introduce this unusual product.

A sample is better than any words to describe the new blended wheat cereal.

Just pour milk or cream on Kellogg's Wheat Krispies. And taste them! They actually keep their crackling crispness—right down to the last delicious spoonful!

It's never been done before

That's a brand-new feature. For years the vast Kellogg kitchens have experimented with whole wheat in various forms.

Just recently, came the BLENDING idea. As coffee is blended from berries that grow in different parts of the world—so a ready-to-eat cereal was blended. Different combinations of grain were tried until, finally, this new cereal was created with surpassing crispness and flavor.

Just enough rice is blended with whole wheat to make a marvelous difference in crunchy goodness. Wheat Krispies have something that no wheat cereal ever had before. Buy a big package from your grocer. Enjoy them often for nourishment. For flavor. For new lasting crispness. Always oven-fresh.

GUARANTEE

"If you are not delighted with Kellogg's Wheat Krispies, just return the package and your money will be cheerfully refunded."

AUSTRIA SEEKS LOW PRICE CAR

Government Anxious To Increase Number But Bars Foreign Makes

By United Press

[illegible]

Popular Model

[illegible]

foreign car a ex raordinarl expensive in Austria Even in spite there is a greater demand than can be filled by the very limited import quota.

84 Cars a Year

Because American firms are not allowed to sell more than 84 cars year in Austria a popular low priced American car sells for about $2000 in Vienna. The same car costs about $500 in the United States.

Representatives of American firms have tried to get the government to consent to the production of American cars in Austria or else grant a more liberal import quota. The government however has refused.

The new Austrian car which the government has in mind probably will be exempted from the ordinary tax and the tax on gas increase.

Automobile experts say Austria is a rich market if it could be opened to low priced cars. It has the lowest car registration of any important country in Europe.

CLEVELAND LIQUOR BUSINESS DOUBLED

By International News Service

CLEVELAND O — The liquor sales in the state liquor stores here is double that of 1934 according to figures released by Albert Tinsley supervisor of state liquor stores in the Cleveland district.

This increase is in effect despite the fact that keen competition is now being offered the state stores by 24 state liquor agencies set up in private business places.

Tinsley revealed that the sales in state stores total around $110 000 a week now. Last fall a $70 000 week was considered good he said.

You remember how in Egypt back in the days of the Pharaohs, they stored up grain during the seven good years so as to be ready for the seven lean years to come . . .

Lean years may come . . . and fat years may go . . .

That's why we have close to a hundred million dollars worth of tobacco packed away in 4½ miles of warehouses to grow mild and naturally sweet.

To make sure that Chesterfields will be uniform in taste and mildness, we have in storage mild, ripe tobaccos from the crops of four years —1931-'32-'33 and '34.

Mild Ripe Tobacco . . .
Aged 2 years or more . . .

—the farmer who grows the tobacco . . .

Jacobson is unjustly ... imprisoned unjustly ... the court which tried ... him freedom if he ... did confess but was not released presumably because he was believed to be a radical."

She avers the only reason her husband now reposes in jail is that they have no funds with which to carry on a court fight for freedom.

Even from the letters she receives she says her husband does not or can not say where he might be or about. She she hope.

Sincere in her belief he is innocent, Mrs Jacobson has the support of the entire surrounding area. Everyone in South Range joins with her in terming the whole affair a judicial miscarriage.

But in the year since his conviction the village has ceased to buzz with talk of Jacobson's fate. In her quiet manner Mrs Jacobson, who lives simply, speaks little and never voluntarily of the case.

"There is nothing more to say," she states, "more has been said already than is necessary."

Asked if she would ever return to Finland she remarks "not if I can help it. Why should I? I'm an American citizen as is my husband. I shall remain in South Range."

Then lapsing back into the past she recalls the history of her predicament.

Jacobson was a mathematics teacher in Northville, Mich, for three years. He left there telling the school board that a better position awaited him in New York.

In New York according to Mrs Jacobson he received what he thought was a legitimate offer of a scholarship in the University of Helsingfors in Finland. Eager to continue his studies and to obtain a masters degree in mathematics he leaped at the chance and embarked for Europe in 1932. In the spring of 1933 his wife joined him in Helsingfors.

A raid by Finnish intelligence officers caught them in a net with other persons at a house party ... Finnish police said they had information that those arrested had cooperated with a Finnish lieutenant who had fled the country on ... because he had military information which he betrayed to Russia. They charged that Jacobson had formed connections with Russian secret police while living in America. He was held but Mrs Jacobson succeeded in establishing her innocence and was freed. A high court convicted him and imposed the six year term for espionage against the Finnish government.

Mrs Jacobson whose maiden name was Sally Hannula, formerly taught school in Monroe.

Now her husband isolated nearly halfway around the world she just sits and waits silently protesting that they did not receive justice.

SPECIAL PROGRAM HONORS MOTHERS

RAIN MARS PLAYING OF GOLF CHAMPIONS

and other players. Except for trouble on the last two holes Owens played steady golf displaying a slight edge over the others in putting at times.

Dutra was under par until the seventh hole where he took a five on a par four. He was one over par on the eighth. Thompson required a five for the No 1 and was unable to overcome Dutra's one stroke lead.

Thompson and Dutra battled throughout the round for distance in their drives with the Australian champion consistently hitting 20 to 30 yards farther. Thompson came out of the rough twice with remarkable shots while Dutra and Owens had better luck in staying on the fairways.

Leave for Akron

Touring the midwest before the opening of the National Open in Pittsburgh June 6 the two left immediately following the match for Akron to meet Al Espinosa. Thompson and Dutra were to play today in Ashtabula and in Akron Sunday with Espinosa. They came to Marion from Richmond Ind where they showed their golf prowess Wednesday.

Questioned as to the competition for the U S title at Pittsburgh Dutra said one of the most brilliant fields ever to play in the tourney would battle this year. Dutra has never seen the course but hoped that he would be able to defend the title gained last year. He predicated that a card of 290 to 296 would be good enough to win the event.

Both visiting notables praised the Marion Country club course expressing a desire to play the greens a little later in the summer. Both suggested a little more conditioning of the greens as a means of improving the course.

ENEMY'S KISS

by Evelyn M. Winch

No [illegible] unhappily Every fibre of Alison's being was awake now [illegible] her mind kept puzzling over that [illegible] discovery. Did the telegraph office really make mistakes? After all they handle incredible numbers of telegrams. Instinctively [illegible] the more suspicious. An unlikely tale that [illegible] could get mixed—and yet [illegible] had Mrs Sumers gained [illegible] that night [illegible] gil?"

"Bob tells me that a most attractive young man came to your rescue." Daphne gave a little arch laugh. "You know Alison, if you weren't so young I'd almost suspect that you hadn't tried very hard to get in touch with us."

For a moment Alison could not reply, sheer indignation choked her and to her vast annoyance her cheeks flushed until the color spread right down her neck.

"Look! She's blushing! You know, Bob, I believe it's time you did get some one to look after her. Fathers don't know everything, do they?"

Robert Rede took his daughter's hand.

"I think we're different from most fathers and daughters, aren't we?" he said kindly.

"Very different." Alison found her voice with an effort. "When Mrs Sumers knows us both better she'll find that out."

"My dear, I was only joking." In an instant, less than an instant, Mrs Sumers dropped her arch manner, became serious, soothing. "Your father has told me so much about you that I feel I do know you almost as well as I know him."

It was like fencing, thought Alison, thrust and parry. Every word carrying its hidden double purpose—the effort to impress Robert combined neatly with a warning to Alison herself that she was now merely the unnecessary third.

Innately honest and sincere herself, hating subterfuge of every kind, the girl's disgust was tinged with fear. In her own fashion, a narrow, single-minded fashion, Daphne was clever, reluctantly Alison admitted it to herself.

She added now, "I'm sorry that I didn't meet the young man. I would have liked to thank him. And your father tells me that he's charming."

"You will meet him, for I hope he's coming here to lunch," said Robert.

"Here?" For a moment Alison would have sworn that Daphne blanched, the rouge on her cheeks brightened and stood out in two pink patches, there was perhaps 10 seconds interval before her smooth "Oh! That's very nice—when?"

"I haven't asked him yet. You'll have to ring him up, Alison."

"You've got his address then?" Mrs Sumers said that lightly.

"As a matter of fact I haven't. I forgot to ask him for it," the girl was carefully casual.

"You can look it up in the telephone book, I suppose." Daphne spoke quite sharply. "What's his name?"

"Westurn."

"Oh? I don't know the name. What is he like? Your father could only tell me that he had good man[illegible] [illegible] she [illegible] Daphne [illegible] pretty was [illegible] now in her [illegible] She had [illegible] out for a cigaret and was [illegible] with the match.

"Like? Oh, I don't know quite," [illegible] a son.

"[illegible] didn't notice whether he was fair or dark?" But behind the joking [illegible] Mrs Sumers [illegible] changed wary and anxious.

"Oh—Oh, I see. Dark."

"Tall?"

"Yes, rather."

"What sort of age?"

"I don't know. I should think around about 30, wouldn't you?" Alison appealed to her father.

"No more than 30," agreed Robert.

"What is he?" Daphne Sumers appealed now to her fiance.

"An architect, he said, didn't he?" Alison nodded.

"Married?" asked Daphne sharply.

"No."

"You asked him that?" That with a faint sneering smile which jarred.

"No. He just happened to tell me." Alison kept her voice cold and level.

"I see. Did you tell him who you were?" There was more than a hint of mockery in that.

"Well, naturally."

"Rather romantic."

"What do you mean?" The challenge slipped out before Alison could stop it.

"Nothing," said Daphne innocently. "It is rather romantic, that's all. Rescue of a young girl at night in a lonely house, breakfast in the kitchen, the whole thing, isn't it?"

"Breakfast in the kitchen?" Robert was frowning.

"Didn't Alison tell you?" Her eyebrows went up, her eyes to the girl's face. "Oh, my dear, I gather he stayed there all night. They had breakfast in the morning—isn't that right?"

"Quite right."

"You didn't tell me." Robert looked troubled now.

"I didn't think it worth mentioning," said Alison quite truthfully. "I'm only wondering how Mrs Sumers knew."

"Me? Oh, I went down there yesterday to watch my stuff being moved out and found breakfast still on the table." Mrs Sumers laughed. "I couldn't think what had happened. By the way, won't you call me Daphne? There's not all that difference between our ages, you know."

"If you would rather," Alison agreed.

"I would. My dear, don't look so serious. I'm sure that your adventure was quite—harmless. Wasn't it?" Again she appealed to Robert.

"I don't exactly see what else I could do," said Alison hotly.

"You couldn't do anything else," agreed Mrs Sumers quickly. "Only—" She looked at Robert. "I think your father's thinking that if he had been a very nice young man he would have managed to spend the night elsewhere. Isn't that it? But you know, Bob, the younger generation is more casual than ours."

Alison's suspicions of Daphne mount tomorrow.

Married Comrades

Can Mystery Stranger Be the Menacing Jack Leslie?

MY ANSWER to Katherine's query was prompt.

"I am chagrined and astonished that I did not think of this before," I said. "But it has been so long since Jack Leslie menaced Mary's life that he had gone completely out of my mind. But his height, weight and age correspond to the description of the man who accosted you today.

"And of course disguise and makeup of any kind are easy for him. The more I think of it, the more sure I am that he is the man trying to find Mary."

"Not so good," Katherine commented thoughtfully.

"It is awful," I said emphatically. "I would rather have a man-eating tiger trailing Mary than that beast. I don't see, however, how he has dared to come back to this country. If we wanted to prosecute, and if it didn't involve a certain publicity for Mary, we have enough against him to send him to prison.

"And I don't see how he got away from the surveillance that Hugh had put over him. At the time of his attempted abduction of Mary, when Noel beat him nearly into pulp, he was thoroughly cowed and readily pledged Hugh that if he were permitted to leave the country he never would come back.

"I am practically sure that Hugh made him an allowance so that he would have financial security, and so have no incentive to come back and threaten Mary's peace of mind."

Seeking Vengeance?

"There is nothing so dangerous as a cowed cur that plucks up enough courage to bite again," Katherine said thoughtfully. "He probably is simply dripping with venom toward both Mary and her husband."

"The whole tragic story—for it was a tragedy—shadowing Noel's boyish life is known only to two people, Noel and Jack Leslie," I said slowly. "The two boys were roommates at college, Noel as the only son and heir of the great Philip Veritzen had every advantage, every luxury that his father's money and prestige could afford him.

"Jack Leslie, of good family and bred to luxury, but fallen in fortunes, shared everything Noel had—you have seen that Philip Veritzen's son is as generous as his father."

"There are no words stronger than those," Katherine interpolated, and I nodded.

"I suppose that his mean nature hated Noel for being the benefactor, and that when the test came he sacrificed his friend to save his own skin. At any rate there was a disgraceful episode involving a [illegible] and her possession of an immensely valuable ring, an heirloom in Philip Veritzen's family.

Noel Innocent

"Jack Leslie and Noel were involved, Noel innocently. He could have been saved by Jack Leslie's word. He could have saved himself by telling what he knew of Jack's connection with the case. But Jack did not speak, and Noel was too proud to save himself by denouncing Leslie, especially as the name of an innocent girl would have been brought into the controversy.

Wouldn't Clear Himself

"Noel was considered an honor to his school, and he never had been involved in any trouble before. The college authorities begged him to clear himself, and when he would not, instead of formally expelling him, they sent for his father and gave Noel the privilege of withdrawing from the college.

"But the haughty Philip Veritzen, humiliated to the core of his being by his son's disgrace, infuriated because Noel would speak no word of extenuation of his conduct, not even to deny the accusation against him, flew into a passion and disowned the boy.

"He banished him from his home and cut off not only the generous allowance he had been receiving, but the boy's own money as well, left him by his mother, but subject to the control of his father until Noel should reach his thirtieth year."

"That is the money that you made Philip Veritzen disgorge a little while before Noel's marriage, isn't it?" she asked.

KEEP ON TOP O' THE WORLD

When you're feeling well you're usually happy. Life is at its best. But when you're sick and blue days lose their zest. You lack enthusiasm.

Common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals is an enemy of happy living. It frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a natural food for normal persons. It furnishes generous bulk to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this gentle food safer than risking patent medicines? Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

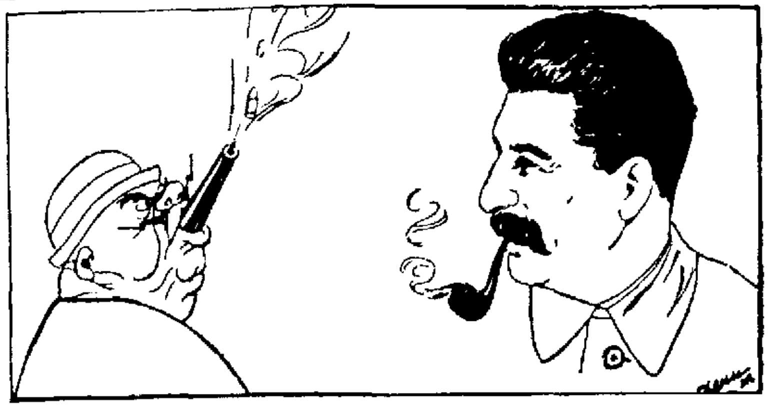
WHY THE WAR TALK?

Russia Talk Peace But Sees Menace in Neighbors' "Aggressive Intentions"



"Peace Pipes" was the only label accompanying this cartoon when it appeared in "Pravda," the official newspaper of the communist party, published in Moscow. The contrast between the German spout-ing smoke from a "big Bertha" and the serene likeness of Joseph Stalin, whose post as executive secretary of the communist party makes him the real power in the far-flung Soviet Union, was eloquent of the idea the artist had in mind.

Fourth of a series of five daily articles.

BY JOHN LLOYD

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, [illegible] —An army of [illegible] the [illegible] is ready [illegible] for the Soviet Union but the [illegible] asks peace.

[illegible] say the army can be increased 10 times over, yet they seek a security pact.

They label their fighting force a defensive machine made necessary by aggressive intentions of neighbors. This is the argument:

The U. S. S. R. is engaged in a great program of internal reconstruction and wants to be left alone to complete the task.

The "German Threat"

It has no need for war, no desire for war, but its neighbors in both Asia and Europe are heavily armed.

German rearmament is a direct threat made more significant by Hitler's refusal to enter the proposed eastern security pact, and Poland appears to favor the Germans.

Japan has never accepted Russia's suggestion for a Far Eastern non-aggression pact, thus though relations in Asia have improved there are no positive guarantees of peace.

It is necessary under these circumstances to have a fighting force capable of guarding simultaneously two widely separated and extensive frontiers.

War starting either in Europe or Asia would quickly spread to the other part of the world, bolshevik leaders say. They think that the greater danger lies at present in Europe.

Has Large Air Corps

Michael Kalinin, president of the All Union Central Executive committee, said in a speech to cavalry officers recently: "War may break out unexpectedly. Our army should always be ready."

Announcing last January that the army had been increased to almost 1,000,000 men, Michael Tuchachevsky, assistant commissar of defense, challenged: "War is being prepared against us, but let our enemies test our strength."

Russia cites as proof of her peaceful intentions the fact that early in the long series of disarmament negotiations she proposed total abolition of all military forces.

Lately she has been urging the necessity of a security pact which would bring a coalition of other powers automatically into action against any country guilty of aggression.

The soviet defense system includes an air corps generally rated as one of the strongest in the world. A vast reserve of pilots is being built up through popularization of flying as a civilian sport.

Millions of young men and women are receiving semi-military training which includes parachute jumping, rifle practice and study of airplane motors.

HIGH SCHOOL DROPS CHEMISTRY, PHYSICS

Sciences of the Home Will Replace Traditional Courses in Cleveland

By United Press

CLEVELAND, O. — Chemistry and physics as [illegible] taught [illegible] schools throughout the country for 60 years are to be [illegible] from the curricula of East Tech High school at [illegible] here with beginning of the fall term in September.

Paradoxical as it may seem, the purpose of discarding the two subjects is to give East Tech students more [illegible] of science than they get under the present set-up, according to P H Powers, principal.

In place of the traditional courses there will be substituted science of the home [illegible] communication or transportation and industry and the nature of living things.

While chemistry and physics will cease to exist as separate subjects except for specializers, the new courses will contain elements of both as well as the fundamentals of biology, geology, physiology and horticulture.

In science of the home boys will learn to operate heating plants, to choose materials for their clothes, to [illegible] colds and will study details of planning a beautiful home.

The experiment, believed the first of its kind in the country, will entail complete reorganization of science courses for the school's [illegible] students. The new courses will be required of all students during a period of two years.

Skin Infections

During warm weather the skin is active and appears more susceptible to infections and inflammation. Dermatitis, the doctor's name for inflammation of the skin, is a common summer ailment.

Other skin disturbances, too, are apt to occur during the summer months. The moisture of the skin holds the germs and parasites as is not the case during cold weather. Many of these disorders are embarrassing and cause special discomfort to the person whose skin is usually clear and unblemished.

Impetigo contagiosa is a disfiguring and annoying infection of the skin commonly contracted at beaches, camps and other summer resorts. The disease is extremely contagious, quickly spreading from one individual to another. Children are particularly susceptible to this infection. Annoying as it is, it is only serious when it attacks infants.

Ringworm is another common disorder of the skin. It is caused by a parasite often encountered in contaminated pools, bathing beaches and gymnasiums. It may affect any part of the body. During the summer months its favorite place of attack is the feet and is commonly spoken of as "athlete's foot."

There are many skin disorders due to infection. Others are traced to some constitutional weakness. Eczema and psoriasis are examples of such chronic disorders of the skin. They are not contagious and are not spread from one individual to another.

Since skin diseases appear to be more prevalent during the summer it is a good plan to begin at once to guard against these infections or irritations. This course is especially advised if you have a sensitive and delicate body covering or are the frequent victim of some chronic disturbance of the skin. I need not remind you that a clean and healthy complexion is an asset well worth watching.

At all seasons of the year keep the skin healthy, clean and in good condition. This is best accomplished by frequent bathing and the use of a bland and pure soap. Nothing is better for anybody than an abundance of soap and water.

Individual towels and wash cloths should be the absolute rule. It is not infrequently the case that skin blemishes and infections are spread from one person to another by sharing the toilet articles.

If a marked skin blemishes or even a trifling rash appears it is wise to consult with your physician. Do not apply an ointment merely because some well meaning friend recommends it.

Why is it better to buy a Used Car from a Ford Dealer?

WHEN you buy from a Ford Dealer it isn't necessary to know anything about cars. He values his reputation for fair dealing and good service. He wants you to be satisfied with the used car he sells you. Making a sale is not nearly so important as making a friend and a customer.

The Ford Dealer has certain advantages which enable him to give you sound values in a used car.

He has a force of trained mechanics to recondition used cars and put them in first class running condition. When he guarantees a car he is sure it is right and you can be sure you can depend on him.

He has the finest modern tools and equipment. One of his special facilities for reconditioning used cars is the Laboratory Test Set or "Mechanical Doctor" which unfailingly tells when anything is wrong with an engine or electrical system.

In reconditioning Ford used cars your Ford Dealer uses only genuine Ford parts which are identical in quality and measurements with the original parts which they replace. This is very important because the future service of the car depends on the strength and accuracy of replacement parts used.

The very large sale of 1935 Ford V-8 cars has brought to Ford Dealers an unusual number of used cars in exchange. Many of them are 1934 and 1933 Ford V-8's which have required very little work to put them in excellent condition. Virtually all makes are represented however, and whatever your preference in a used car, we suggest that you go and see what your Ford Dealer has to offer. You are sure to find attractive values, as well as the security of buying from an established Ford Dealer.

You may be interested in seeing the work of reconditioning used cars. Any Ford Dealer will be glad to have you call at his workshop and will explain the methods and equipment used by Ford trained men.

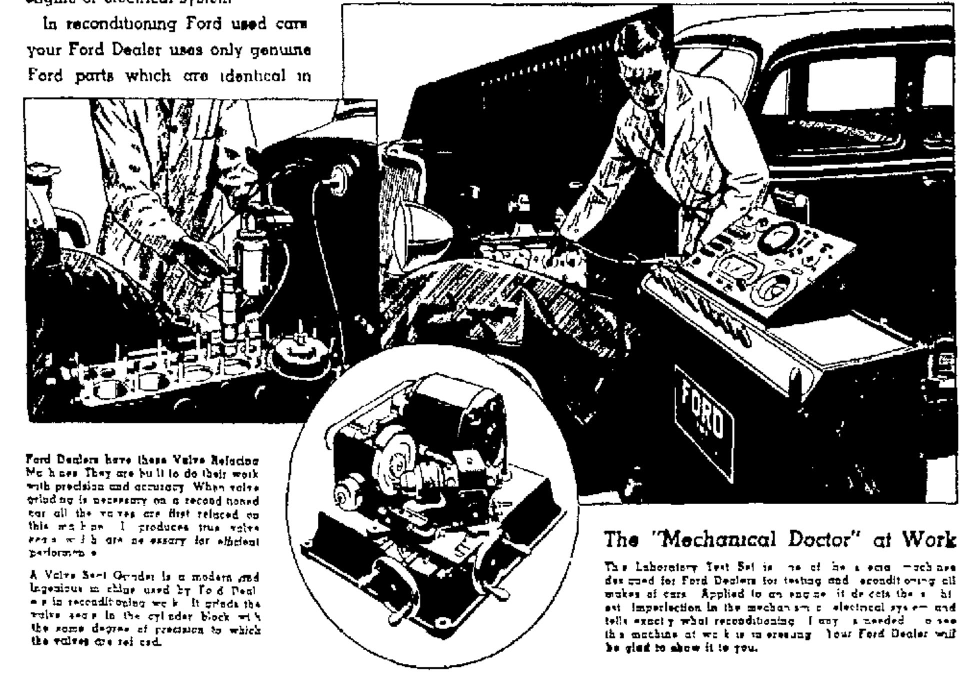
ALSO SEE THE FORD DEALER WHEN YOU WANT

USED TRUCKS AND COMMERCIAL CARS

Many different body types taken in exchange for the fast selling New Ford V-8 Trucks and Commercial Cars. Many have been reconditioned for thousands of miles of trouble-free service. Exceptional values. Attractive prices.

EASY TERMS

Any Ford Dealer will be glad to arrange convenient terms of payment through the Authorized Ford Finance Plans of the Universal Credit Company. Your present car will be taken in exchange and in many cases will cover the down payment.



Ford Dealers have these Valve Refacing Machines. They are built to do their work with precision and accuracy. When valve grinding is necessary on a second-hand car all the valves are first refaced on this machine. It produces true valve faces which are necessary for efficient performance.

A Valve Seat Grinder is a modern and ingenious machine used by Ford Dealers in reconditioning work. It grinds the valve seats in the cylinder block with the same degree of precision to which the valves are refaced.

The "Mechanical Doctor" at Work

The Laboratory Test Set is one of the scientific machines designed for Ford Dealers for testing and reconditioning all makes of cars. Applied to an engine it detects the slightest imperfection in the mechanism or electrical system and tells exactly what reconditioning, if any, is needed. To see this machine at work is interesting. Your Ford Dealer will be glad to show it to you.

ASSOCIATION TEAMS OBTAIN NEW PLAYERS

Columbus St Paul and Millers Benefit by Major League Help

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO May 17—American Association ball clubs are on their own from now on as far as any more help from major league clubs goes

The major organizations have pruned their roster down to the required 23-player limit leaving them nothing to pass on to their minor league dependants And in the last minute shunting of players to association clubs Minneapolis and St Paul running one two today along with Columbus appears to have been helped most.

The Millers obtained a whole battery—Pitcher Dennis Galehouse and Catcher Charlie George from Cleveland completing the deal in which outfielder Abby Wright went to the Indians

Columbus apparently back in stride after a slump at the start of the western trip drew Bud Tinning big righthanded pitcher and outfielder John Winsett from the St Louis Cardinals St Paul nudging the Millers hard for first place obtained pitcher Luke Hamlin from the Detroit Tigers

Kansas City in sixth place was the last to get help Pittsburgh already down to 23 men dropped one player below the limit yesterday by sending Bill Brubaker who couldn't run Manager Pie Traynor off third base for the Pirates to the Blues

Ruth's Future in Baseball Now Huge Question Mark

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK May 17—Babe Ruth's future in baseball took the shape of a huge question mark again today

In one breath the big fellow now 41 years old somewhat angrily denied published reports that he was all washed up and intended to quit as a player on completion of the Braves swing through the west starting today in St Louis

May Retire

Then he lent credence to the report by saying he might put himself on the voluntary retired list soon if he were unable to shake off a cold which he said had been cramping his style

Ruth said the cold had affected his eyes causing them to water constantly Consequently he can't draw a bead on the ball as of old

Otherwise he said he's in good shape and he hasn't felt any aches or any real fatigue since the spring training

The reports and Ruth's admission that he may retire caused no eyebrow lifting however on the part of experts and Emil Fuchs president of the Braves

Since the start of the season the Babe has slowed up to a walk in the field He has taken part in 15 of the Redskins 20 games and has only two home runs to his credit as part of an embarrassingly low batting average National League twirlers are whispering that the erstwhile king slugger can't hit a low ball effectively any more

President Fuchs believes Ruth's future depends on the Bambino's showing on the western trip

Ruth is a person of moods but I am sure he will finish the season with the Braves if he regains his old form at bat Fuchs said But if it is true that he will quit I shall hate to think of the Babe stepping out when he is low in temperament

Wants Boss Job

Two and one-half months ago when the Babe cast his lot with the Braves in the triple capacity of player vice president and assistant to Manager Bill McKechnie—the three jobs generally figured to aggregate $10,000 for the season—he was regarded as the solution for the club's financial ailments

Since the baseball men have speculated on the possibility of a mid-season shift by which Ruth would become field manager and McKechnie elevated to the job of general manager

Ruth's ambition for two years has been to manage a big league club Whether he will be given his first chance in Boston depends on the ability of President Fuchs to meet financial obligations within the next two months retain control of the clubs and make the double managerial shift Failing the Babe in all probability will seek a post elsewhere

BREAK GIVEN BEREA RACE TRACK LEADERS

Meet Scheduled Week Following North Randall Event Gets Heavy Entry.

By United Press

A break in the schedule of trotting horse tracks in the United States and Canada gives the half mile track at Berea O the opportunity of holding from July 15 to 27 what should be one of the finest meets a small track in the state has had for many years

The Berea meeting will come immediately after the grand circuit races at North Randall Cleveland and inasmuch as the tracks are only 14 miles apart the majority of the large stables which race at Cleveland are expected to go to Berea rather than make the long jump to Toronto Canada where they would be forced to lay idle for two weeks to get six days of racing

Thirty-six stake races and 90 overnight events are on the program The stake entries just recently closed and J J Orvin secretary of the Cuyahoga County Driving club says the entry list is one of the strongest to be turned in for an Ohio racing meet in 10 years

The Y M C A at Ashland Ky has a softball league and the members of all teams in the circuit must be employed by the team sponsor However among the entrants is the Boyd county Unemployed League whose players aren't supposed to be employed by anyone

ZACHARY STARS AS DODGERS WIN LONG TILT WITH BUCS, 2-0

Indians Blanked, 10 to 0 by Yanks, Detroit Trims Senators

BY HUGH S FULLERTON JR
Associated Press Sports Writer

[illegible] Jonathan Thompson Zachary who has been [illegible] Old Tom [illegible] so long some [illegible] believe he [illegible]

Making his [illegible] appearance in the majors with the Athletics back in 1918 Zachary has played with six clubs in the two circuits pitched in three World Series and has been cast adrift so often he's quite accustomed to having his name on the waiver list

Two Runs in 31 Frames

In his last three appearances Old Tom has allowed two runs in 31 innings He dropped a 1-0 decision to Pittsburgh and C Blanton on a home run trimmed the Reds 6-1 and finally shut out the Pirates yesterday 2 to 0 in a 13-inning mound duel with Waite Hoyt who has an equally long record

Hoyt apparently had the better of the argument up to the last inning of the overtime duel that opened the Bucs home stand against the east He escaped serious trouble while Zachary had to pitch his way out of a first inning jam

In the thirteenth Arky Vaughan who had just failed to hit with the bases full fumbled Frenchy Bordagaray's grounder Linus Frey and Jim Bucher followed with a pair of singles to break the deadlock and after Tony Cuccinello had drawn a walk Dan Taylor's fly brought in the other run

The triumph in the only game on the National League schedule left the Dodgers just one game behind the league-leading New York Giants

In the American League where two games were scheduled the Yankees took a firmer hold on fourth by handing the second place Indians their first shutout of the season 10 to 0 and the Tigers advanced to a fifth place tie with Washington by trimming the Senators 7 to 3

Manager Joe McCarthy recovering from an influenza attack which forced him to miss the Yanks western tour got back on the bench in time to see Vito Tamulis rookie southpaw scatter seven hits nicely to administer the whitewashing The New Yorkers landed on Willis Hudlin and two successors with a concentrated 15 hit attack.

Six Washington errors played a big part in the Senators downfall The Tigers came through with timely blows while Tommy Bridges pitched a six hit game and had a shutout up to the final inning Only two Detroit runs were scored without the aid of Senator misplays

VI—JEFFRIES VS. SHARKEY—1899

Sharkey a stubby sawed-off warrior but tremendously powerful was at a wide disadvantage in height and reach but for 20 rounds gave Jeffries (facing camera) an amazing battle Sharkey was floored for nine by a left to the jaw in the second but he came back and with a furious onslaught battered the champion round after round

Another left to the jaw staggered Sharkey in the 21st and Jeffries who had been wrestling the sailor around continually bearing his 200 pounds down on him in the clinches went to work He hammered the challenger savagely the rest of the way as Sharkey's punches had lost their sting Jeffries left glove came off in the 25th and Sharkey took a smack at him as Referee George Siler was putting it back on The decision caused considerable controversy many of the experts thinking Sharkey had earned at least a draw
